Anderson Tackles the Tight Confines of Grand Prix de Trois-Rivières

"Tight street course made for some incredible racing as Anderson pushed his Juncos-prepared Pro Mazda machine toward the front of the field."

Fort Collins, Colorado - Scott Anderson, the 2011 Skip Barber National Champion and former MAZDASPEED Motorsports Development scholarship recipient, made the trip north across the border for the third of three stops in Canada. This time the Pro Mazda Championship presented by Cooper Tires headed to the historic Grand Prix de Trois-Rivières located high above the St. Lawrence River, just east of Montreal, Quebec. The well-known street race has hosted the Pro Mazda cars for several years. Anderson, driving the #44 Juncos Racing/Neuropathy Testing Center/Laser Nail Centers/Foot Surgery Center of Northern Colorado car, banked two strong top five results taking fourth position in both the Saturday and Sunday feature events.

"Three Rivers was an overall positive weekend for me and for the team," comments Anderson. "We started out in practice with a good car and set some fast laps despite being my first time there and overcoming some electrical issues. I managed to qualify third, which I was pretty happy with as it gave me a good chance to run for a podium."

Anderson would go fourth in practice on Friday afternoon under sunny skies and with large crowds. On Saturday a strong qualifying run had Anderson set the third quickest lap on the time sheets setting him up for an inside row two starting position. In race one Scott lost a spot off the start and was able to hold station taking fourth at the line. With the fourth fastest time set in race one, Anderson would again go from row two, this time in the outside line for race two.

A less than perfect launch from the standing start had Scott fall back two spots, but he was able to miss the first corner contact that took out four cars. After a lengthy full course caution, Anderson put on a charge retaking fourth and then closing in on third as the 40-lap race ran under green. Locked in a spirited battle in the closing laps, Anderson was not able to find a way past in the tight, concrete lined street course and would settle for another solid points paying fourth place finish.

"Both races had pretty close battles," continues Anderson. "It's a frustrating place to try and get a pass done but it was still some of the better racing I've had this season. Unfortunately, I lost a spot in the first race and finished fourth. In the second race I had a great battle with Juan (Piedrahita) and Spencer (Pigot) and finished where I qualified with another fourth."

Anderson retains his fifth place ranking in the overall championships point standings with one double-header weekend remaining in the 2013 season. Drivers in the Pro Mazda Championship presented by Cooper Tires will enjoy a much-deserved break, as their next scheduled event is the Grand Prix of Houston IndyCar race in early October.
